At the Nineteenth Annual Meeting of the Canadian Bar Association Isaac Pitblado, K.C., LL.D., of the Winnipeg Bar, was elected President of the Association in succession to the Honourable N. W. Rowell, K.C., who had held the office for two successive years. Mr. Pitblado's place is among the leaders of the Bar in Canada. He is a Nova Scotian by birth, having received his early education there culminating in his graduation in Arts at Dalhousie University. He was called to the Bar of Manitoba in 1890. The Association has profited largely from his enthusiastic and practical support. His election to the presidency is a popular one.

His Honour Judge Alexander D. Hardy of the County Court of Brantford, reached his retirement age on the 13th of July. In reference to the event The Brantford Expositor published a sketch of His Honour's noteworthy career both as a Judge and as a citizen of Brantford, and said many pleasant things about him in an editorial in the same number. We quote a passage from the latter:

"The retirement of Judge Hardy brings to a close a most efficient discharge of highly important duties. His Honour, for the long period of thirty-seven years has ably met all the requirements of his high office, not only from the judicial standpoint but also with regard to a fair and common sense interpretation of the statutes. He has been most painstaking in the hearing of cases and has always endeavored to hold the balance true in connection with what has often proved much conflicting court evidence. His findings have been sound and very rarely successfully appealed and his written judgments have ever manifested a sane and far reaching reading of the law and of the authorities."

During his tenure of office, Judge Hardy was President of Judicial District No. 1, comprising Lincoln, Welland, Haldimand, Wentworth, Norfolk and Brant. He is an enthusiastic member of the Canadian Bar Association, having acted in the capacity of member of the Ontario Council of the Association in its formative stages. We learn that His Honour has been requested to continue in office until his successor is appointed.

The Right Honourable Lord Justice Scrutton died in England last month at the age of seventy-eight. His judical career was one of great distinction. He was called to the Bar in 1882, and appointed to the King's Bench Division of the High Court of Justice in 1910. In 1916 he was created a Lord Justice of Appeal. His treatises on the law of Copyright and the law of Charter-parties, together with his judicial pronouncements, testify to the fineness of his mental gifts. In our number for March last we referred to one of his latest judgments (Butcher-Wetherley & Co. v. Norman, [1934] K.B. 475; 50 T. L. R. 185) in which he admitted with great candour that Judges should not regard themselves or be regarded as having made the whole province of learning their very own.

The present year marks the centenary of the Tolpuddle case wherein George Loveless and five others were punished by transportation for a technical breach of the criminal law which they had committed in endeavoring to establish a trade union. Their case was championed in the House of Commons and in the press, but Lord Melbourne refused to take any steps to mitigate their punishment. In 1836, however, Lord John Russell, who meanwhile had succeeded Melbourne, obtained a pardon for them and they returned home.

Russia it seems is to be admitted to the League of Nations on the request of thirty members of the League including Great Britain, France, and Italy of the great powers. Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa also supported the invitation to Russia. The invitation was accepted by M. After a very full discussion the Sixth (Political) Committee of the Assembly decided by thirty eight votes to three, with seven abstentions, to recommend to the Assembly that Russia be admitted to membership in the League.
